I was saddened to learn about Dwayne. My prayers and thoughts are for the family during this time. I had the good fortune of knowing and working with Dwayne. He impressed me with his consistent 'can do' attitude and unfailing willingness to help, especially those of us who were technology challenged. I have great memories of us working through Hurricane Hermine to ensure our team moved forward - Dwayne was our MVP.

I remember when I first met Dwayne working at Harvey's grocery store in Tallahassee. I was a cashier and he was a bagger. I noticed he didn't talk much but he had a handsome smile I won't ever forget. I had to go and talk to him because he told me later after that he was too shy to come and talk to me. Dwayne and I started dating after that and then we soon after had a life changing surprise of our son, Dylan McKnight. Ever since Dwayne and I remained the best coparents we could be to Dylan and we always looked out for each other no matter what. He always wanted me to be happy and we cared so much about each other. He will forever be a huge part of me and I am so thankful and happy for our time together as family and coparents....he'd call me baby mama or Chris, and I called him baby daddy or Dwayne. I love you baby daddy. I will miss you so so much.-your baby mama, Chriselda (Chris)

I remember some years ago me and Dewayne went to Mexico. None of us have ever been out of the U.S. but we were determined to do so. The best way to Mexico for us at that time was over the pedestrian bridge. So we parked the car, I was driving cause if there was one thing about Dewayne we all know it he hated to drive. Plus he always had the nicest cars out of the mass majority of friends we hung out with so I never minded driving. Anyway, we got out I locked the doors and then realized I had left the car running with the keys locked in it. Lol. It was a good time. There are many truly fun moments in our lives I would not change for anything!!! He was taken from us way to early. I miss you Dewayne!!! Rest easy my friend!!
